| | I responded to Greenbriar St in reference to an unknown disturbance. All the information I had at the time was there was a female in a car on Greenbriar St. When I arrived on scene I observed a silver vehicle (AKH 6679) parked sideways in the middle of Greenbriar St at the intersection of Forest Hill St. Several people were standing nearby. Witness informed me that a blonde woman was driving the vehicle. The vehicle came down Forest Hill St at a high rate of speed. One witness | | | | | | | | | | | | stated the vehicle almost hit her. The vehicle turned wide, turning right onto Greenbriar from Forest Hill St and hit the curb. After the vehicle hit the curb it went into a front yard and caused damage to it. The woman exited the vehicle and tried to push the vehicle. A witness stated she asked for help pushing her vehicle to her residence. All of the witnesses informed me the woman was highly impaired.

I ran the tag (AKH6679) and it was owned by Jennifer Yoder. Yoder's address was nearby at 107 Cedar St. PSO Hall and myself went to the residence. Yoder was located at her residence and I could smell a strong odor of alcohol coming from her breath. She was also having a hard time standing up and keeping her balance. I asked Yoder where she was earlier that night and she stated she came from a party. I asked her how much she had to drink and she said "too much." I asked Yoder how she got home and she stated a friend drove her car home. Yoder was unable to tell me where her car was located. I informed Yoder that witnesses reported she was driving her vehicle and wrecked it on Greenbriar St. Yoder stated that was not true.

After confirming with the witnesses what the driver of the vehicle looked like, I placed Yoder under arrest. I walked Yoder from the front door of her residence to my patrol car and had to assist her. While she was putting her shoes on she almost fell over. Captain Christy and myself had to hold her up. I transported Yoder to the Burke Catawba jail facility to conduct a chemical breath test. I read Yoder her right to consent to a chemical breath test and began observing her at 22:50 hours. Yoder stated she wanted to use the phone. During the time of her observation she repeatedly asked me "what this was all about?" and that she did not understand why she was being arrested. She also stated she wasn't driving that night and could not understand any of my instructions on what I was telling her. In the 30 minutes of my observation she used the phone twice and no one came to witness her test. Yoder provided three insufficient samples of breath. At that time the test had timed out.

I transported Yoder to the Magistrates office to apply for a search warrant of her blood. I then transported her to the CHS Morganton hospital. Her blood was drawn at 12:18 hours on 09/21/14. After that I asked Yoder to perform a few sobriety tests for me. Which she consented to.

The first test was the HGN. Yoder showed all signs of impairment on that test. I then demonstrated the walk and turn test to her and explained the test in detail. She stated she understood the test. During the test she missed her heel to toe several times and was off balance. She was instructed to take 9 steps forward and she took 11. Then she turned around off balance and not how she was instructed to by taking a series of small steps. She then walked back and counted out 10 steps instead of the 9, I had explained to her to take.

The next test I explained and demonstrated was the one leg stand. During that test Yoder kept her hand behind her back during the test. I had explained to her to keep them down by her side. When she raised her right foot and began counting she lost her balance and had to restart. I instructed her to count to 30 and she had stopped at 6.

The next test was the finger to nose test. I had explained to Yoder that she would stand with her feet together with her arms extended out to her side with her index fingers extended. Also she would have her head tilted back and her eyes close. When I would say "right" she was instructed to take her right index finger and touch the tip of her nose then she would extend her arm back out. The same instructions were given for her left side. During that test she had missed her nose on the first try and the second. She stopped on the fourth command to touch her nose. After each of the four attempts she failed to extend her arm back out to her side as she was instructed to.

The next test was the Romberg test. During that test she was slightly unstable. She was instructed to count to what she believed was 30 seconds in her head and tell me when she was done. She counted to 30 seconds out loud which took, 31 seconds.

After that I transported Yoder back to the Magistrates office. She was charged with the above charges and a court date set above. She was issued a custody release by the Magistrate into Linda Yoder's custody. She was released from the Magistrates office with no further incident. All subject information is current at the time of this report.
