the ground level of the parking deck. It had damage to the front right fender and appeared to have struck a column of the parking deck. (Later during the investigation I was able to see that the Mustang had not hit the column, she had just parked extremely close to it and the damage to her car was a couple of months old.) There was also a white female sitting in the drivers seat. I pulled behind the Mustang and approached the drivers side of the vehicle. It was running as I was walking up and I saw the driver turn the car off and take the keys out of the ignition. The main windows were rolled up, but the small back corner windows were down.

I asked the defendant to roll her window down. She told me she would and tried to put the keys back into the ignition. She was unable to get the keys back into the ignition. She was hitting the steering column with the key or missing it completely. I told her to open the door and she said she would, but had to be told at least 3 times before she actually did.

Once the door was open I detected an odor of alcoholic beverages coming from the defendant and her breath. I asked her what she was doing. She stated she had come to the hospital because her daughter was there. She then changed it to her mother in law was there and her daughter had called to tell her that. She later stated her mother in law may be at CMC Morganton or Valdese, she wasn't sure. I noticed there was pieces of a broken mirror between the door and her seat. She also had a small cut (already clotting) to a finger on her left hand. There was also some blood visible on her clothes where she had made contact with the finger and the clothing.

I was told by another officer on the passenger side of the car that there was knife on the passenger seat. I told the defendant to go ahead and get out of the car and not touch the knife. She had to be told repeatedly, before she actually complied. Once she was out of the car she was staggering and swaying. I asked her to walk to the front of my car. She instead turned and started walking away in the opposite direction. I put my right hand on her right arm and instructed her again to go to my car. She pulled away and raised her hand as though to strike or slap me. I got her right arm in a straight arm hold and escorted her to the front of my car. There I had PSO Huffman remove all items from her pockets as I explained to the defendant that she needed to listen to my instructions and not make any more movements like she had (pulling away and raising hand as though to strike). She stated she understood.

I had the defendant perform a series of field sobriety tests. She performed the HGN, sway test and alphabet recitation (G-Y). There indicators of impairment during her performance on all of the tests.

I formed the opinion that the defendant had consumed a sufficient amount of an impairing substance to appreciably impair her mental and physical abilities. I believe that she was impaired by alcoholic beverages. I placed her under arrest for DWI at that time.

I brought the defendant to BCDF and administered an intoximeter test. She requested to call her daughter to come witness the test. The defendant was hostile and uncooperative during the observation period. She had to be cuffed to the bench to prevent her from putting her hands to her mouth. She had been warned and refused to listen. She stated at one point that she did not speak English or Spainish and did not understand my questions. Her daughter arrived at the end of the observation period and did observe the test being administered. The defendant did provide valid samples of breath for the tests.

I transported the defendant to the magistrates office and she was released into the custody of her daughter.

We did speak to 2 of the witnesses and the clerk of the store. The witnesses actually came to the scene of the stop on their own and confirmed that the car and the driver was the one that had been reported. They stated the defendant had come into Wilco Hess stumbling. She had purchased a pack of cigarettes and dropped the pack on the floor. She cursed at a male customer behind her in line for not picking the pack of cigarettes up and she had difficulty in getting the pack herself. She had been loud, cursing and also asking them to not call the police on her.
